Track your Time, Projects & Profitability

Coretime helps over 600 professional services businesses in the UK, Ireland, Saudi Arabia, the UAE, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa track time accurately, see profitability in real time, and get paid faster. By connecting timesheets, expenses, projects and invoicing, it removes manual admin and gives you a clear view of which clients and projects are driving profit.

What kind of businesses use Coretime?

Coretime is built for organisations that sell time, expertise and outcomes rather than products.

Typical users include:

- Consulting and advisory firms
- Accountants and financial services practices
- Architects, engineers and construction-related professionals
- Creative, digital and marketing agencies
- IT, software and technology consultancies
- Freelancers and small professional services teams who need a “grown-up” system as they scale

Key features and benefits

Core features:

- Timesheets & expenses: Easy, accurate time capture (web, mobile), approvals, and expense tracking tied directly to projects and clients.
- Project management: Plan work, track progress, manage budgets and see WIP and profitability as you go.
- Invoicing & billing: Turn approved time and expenses into professional invoices in a few clicks, with flexible billing methods.
- Resource & capacity planning: Schedule people, balance workloads and avoid bottlenecks with forward-looking visibility.
- Integrations: Connect to accounting platforms like Sage, Xero and QuickBooks so finance and operations stay in sync.
- Reporting & analytics: Dashboards and reports for utilisation, margins, WIP, write-offs, aged debtors and more.

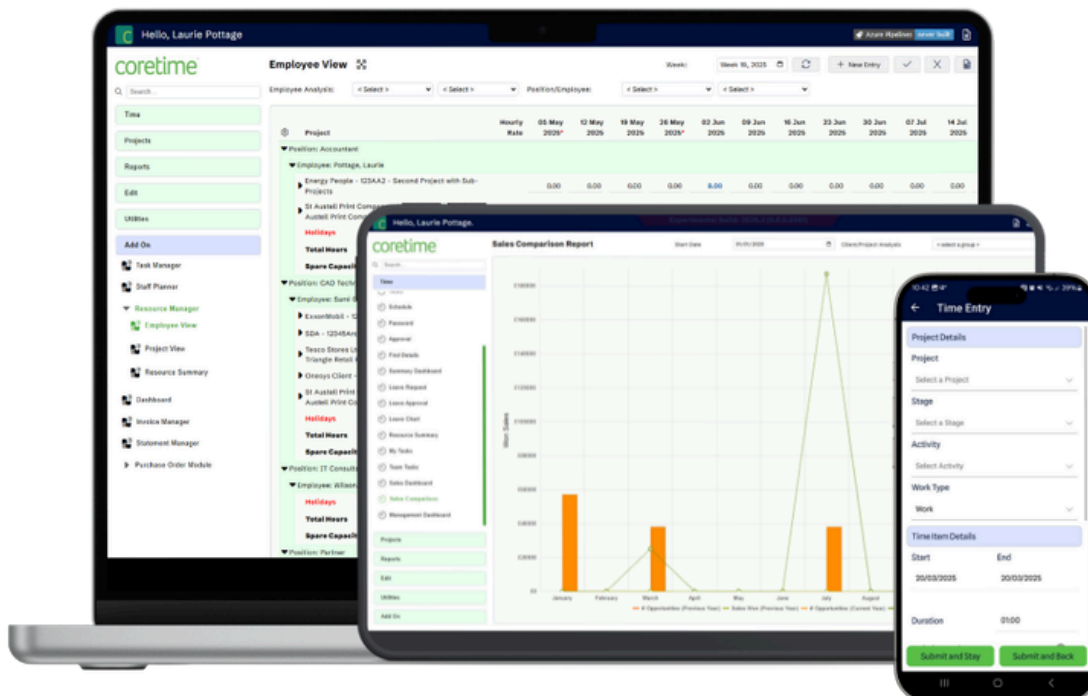

Benefits:

- Recover more billable time by eliminating guesswork and late time entry.
- Cut admin and double-entry so teams can focus on client work.
- Improve cash flow with faster, more accurate invoicing.
- Make better decisions using real-time project and client profitability data.

Helping your business run more efficiently

Coretime replaces spreadsheets, disconnected tools and manual workarounds with one connected platform. Automated timesheets, approval flows, invoice generation and accounting sync remove repetitive tasks, reduce errors and speed up your month-end.

Teams get a single source of truth for time, projects, WIP and billing, so everyone from partners and directors to project managers and finance can work from the same data. This leads to smoother hand-offs, fewer surprises and a leaner, more efficient operation.

How Coretime adapts to your business

Coretime is designed to fit the way professional services firms actually work rather than forcing a rigid process on you. You can configure project structures, phases, rate cards, approval flows, fields and reports to match your terminology and existing processes.

Deployment is flexible too: choose cloud or on-premise, and tailor integrations so Coretime sits neatly in your current tech stack. As you grow, you can switch on more modules and reporting without changing system.

Vision, Mission & Culture

Vision

To be the trusted time and project platform for professional service firms who sell expertise, not products—giving every firm a clear, real-time view of where time goes, how projects perform, and which work is truly profitable

Mission

Our mission is to make it effortless for professional service firms to capture time, understand profitability and get invoices out accurately and on time, without adding extra admin.

We do this by focusing on the needs, workflows and terminology of professional services whether that's utilisation targets, write-offs or RIBA stages and by integrating tightly with systems like Sage, so data flows smoothly across your business.

Culture

We work as a real business partner to firms that sell expertise, bringing together product specialists, consultants and support professionals who've worked with professional service businesses for years. Our culture is built on responsiveness, practical guidance and long-term relationships: from first enquiry through implementation and everyday support, we aim to make Coretime an invaluable, easy-to-use system that improves productivity, efficiency and the way your whole business runs.

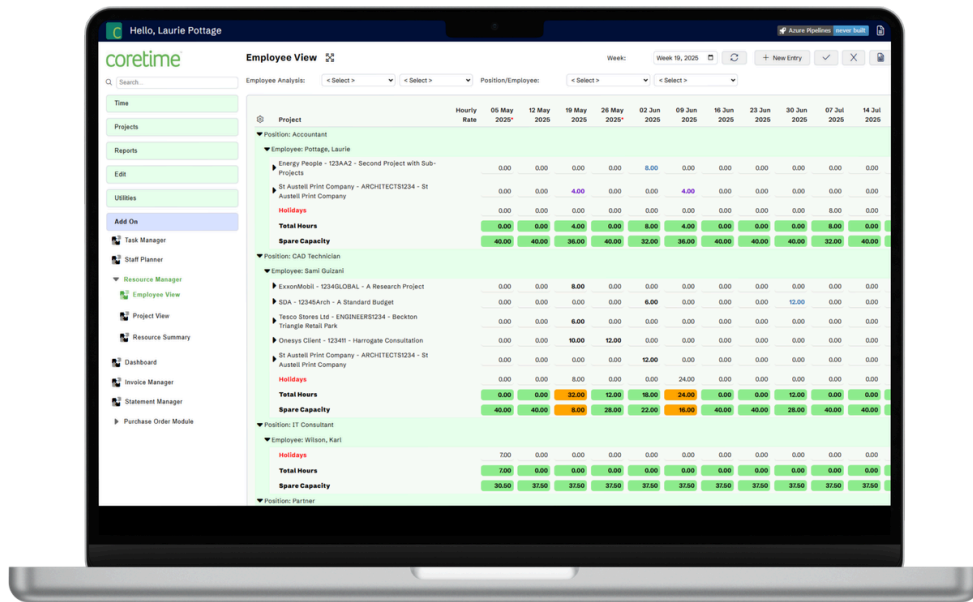

Why choose us?

- Deep focus on professional services: Coretime is not a generic project tool; it's designed specifically for time-based firms that need WIP, utilisation and fee control.
 - Proven, trusted platform: Used by 600+ firms globally, including high-performing consultancies and members of the Big Four.
 - Flexible deployment and customisation: Cloud or on-premise, configurable workflows, reports and integrations to match how you work.
 - Strong accounting integrations: Tight links with Sage, Xero and QuickBooks bridge the gap between operations and finance.
 - Supportive partnership: UK-based, specialist team that understands professional services and supports you through implementation, training and beyond.

Case Study

Client

GWP Consultants an Oxfordshire-based independent consulting partnership specialising in geology, geotechnics, mining engineering, hydrogeology and hydrology, working on quarrying, mining, waste management and water resources projects in the UK and internationally.

Challenge

GWP needed a modern, digital way to handle both timesheets and project-cost tracking across a wide variety of projects and funding models. Their existing approach made it hard to capture all billable time, allocate costs accurately and produce invoices quickly and confidently for clients and funders.

Solution

Coretime was selected as GWP's preferred timesheet and project-cost solution, providing a single system to record time, allocate it to projects, and drive invoicing. The platform gives them a consistent way to manage time and costs across complex, multi-disciplinary work, with clear visibility of where effort is going and how projects are performing financially

Results

- Improved invoicing efficiency, with faster, more accurate invoices driven by reliable timesheet and project-cost data.
- Better ability to track and capture all relevant time and allocate it to the right projects, funders and cost codes.
- Greater confidence in project information and reporting, supporting long-term client relationships in technically demanding sectors.

“Invoicing is also made much easier. ... Coretime automatically assigns the correct hourly rate ... while also ensuring that the total is assigned to the correct project.” — Amanda, GWP's Management Accountant
